

Abstract:

A system and method for allocation of actuators is provided. Electrodes having several voltages are assigned to actuators within correlation regions of the actuators. By 5 varying the voltages, a desired actuation profile for the actuators may be achieved.